We All Need

God created us with needs. From the moment we are born we cry out for food and comfort. Much of what we do in life relates directly or indirectly to getting our needs met. Most of our relationships involve mutual need fulfillment. It is in the give and take of relationships that our needs for belonging and love are satisfied. Yet, no matter how well connected we are it seems our emotional and spiritual needs are never fully satiated.

Our greatest need is for a relationship with God. Many people try to satisfy this need with other things, often not even knowing what it is they truly need. The Bible tells us that we were created for fellowship with God. The reason we exist is to know God and to have a relationship with him as our Father. Of course there are many other worthwhile purposes and pursuits, but nothing can satisfy the deepest longings of our heart except God himself. Have you been trying to fill the "God-sized void" within you with something else?

The source of life and all good things is God. Everything we truly need can be found in or through him. Jesus said, "I am the vine, you are the branches." The Spirit of God has been compared to a spring of living water welling up within us. Take time to plug into the Source. Our needs may be great, but God is greater.

We all need. We all need God. Ask him to fill you with himself until your joy overflows.

Bill
